

For small VC funds, tech transfer offices, family offices, angel groups and other investors, it is important to have an on-demand resource for discrete projects, whether a “second set of eyes” doing pre-due diligence on a key investment, an audit of the progress of an existing investment, investor proxies at board meetings, or triage for a poor performing investment. Opus Faveo can be that force multiplier.

How We Work

Process is important. Before any engagement, we meet with the investor to understand specific areas of need. Our deliverables are outlined in writing, and we define a communications cadence around the client’s expectations. All Opus Faveo clients are provided immediate termination rights.

Fees and Services

Whether for a short-term project or long-duration board proxy assignment, Opus Faveo will work with the investor to create a cost-effective way to engage. We generally provide investor services for a fee but we are also willing to entertain investor services in return for equity participation in the start-up.

Who Benefits?

Angels and investors value long term Opus Faveo engagement within their portfolio to provide additional perspective and off-load time requirements for quality investment oversight. Founders experience insights which we hope makes them better.

Our Team

Opus Faveo partners have held officer level positions in corporates as well as having years of experience nurturing new businesses. We maintain a data base of over 10,000 executives and experts across industries who are available as advisors and interim executives.

Recent Opus Faveo Companies

AdvanceNet Technology Services

HACKS & HILLS

